The Archbishop's Monthly Intentions: October 2017

"Let us pray for the world of labor, that the human rights of all be protected and preserved and that unemployed people may be given the opportunity to contribute to the edification of the common good and to restore their dignity."

Questions: To improve the quality of life of people experiencing harsh working conditions: continuous standby, broken or demanding schedules; I do not hesitate to come out for workers who work only on call, and to denounce businesses which impose these conditions.

Invitation to a Banquet

Today we are being presented with the theme of Banquet in both the first reading and the Gospel. The banquet in the biblical terms is the symbol of the happiness and joy of the Messianic times. Whoever accepts God will experience the most profound and real joy. In the first reading, the Prophet Isaiah describes the Messianic banquet on the Lord's mountain in the Holy City of Jerusalem, which God is preparing for His people. It is a great feast of "rich food and choice wines." The enemy that has been defeated in the prophecy is Death. It is not just physical death but all that for humans is defeat and death; it includes a meaningless life, derision, failure, pain and sorrow, hunger, disease, marginalization. At the Messianic times, every "death" situation will be transformed. Whatever is "non-life" will be wiped out. There will be only cheerfulness and happiness for all. It will be a time of feast, the banquet of the Kingdom. In the second reading, St. Paul advises the Philippians to put their trust in the power and goodness of a provident God, Who, in Jesus, has given His Church everything needed to enable His followers to participate in the Heavenly banquet.

The Gospel presents two parables, the parable of the wedding feast and that of the wedding garment. The king invites guests to the wedding feast of his son. With everything ready, the king sends his servants to inform the invitees but they refuse to come. The king is the figure of God. The first and second groups of servants stand for the prophets of the Old Testament up to John the Baptist and the first apostles. The invitees who refuse to come represent the chosen people of Israel. The original invitation speaks of God's gracious call to His chosen people; the second shows the patience of God: even when all is ready, God still hopes there will be a change of heart. The consequence of the refusal is huge. The armies sent you the king represent the Roman armies which besieged and captured Jerusalem in AD 70. They demolished the Temple and burnt the city. The extension of the invitation to the high ways and byways represents the carrying of the Gospel to the Gentiles, after the chosen people have rejected it.

Despite the various symbols, the central image of the Gospel is that of a God who as a gracious host hopes that everyone will come to His banquet. The wedding garment, the condition for entering the banquet, is readiness, that is, conversion. "We need to keep wearing the wedding garment of holiness and righteousness, the state of grace, all the time and appreciate and make use of the provision for God's graces in the Church: we received the "wedding garment" of sanctifying grace in Baptism, and we receive additional graces to retain it through the other Sacraments. Our participation in the Eucharistic celebration and in personal and family prayers helps us to recharge our spiritual batteries and enables us to lead Spirit-filled lives. Jesus nourishes us in the Church through the proclamation of word of God and through His own body and blood in the Holy Communion. We need to participate in the Eucharistic banquet with proper preparation by repenting of our sins and by actively participating in the prayers and singing during the Holy Mass. Participating in Holy Mass is the best preparation and source of power for our future participation in the Heavenly banquet" (Fr Kadavil).
Happy Sunday!

HISTORY OF OLV

In 1997 the newly ordained Father Yves Masse became the new pastor of OLV. He would be with us until 1999.

His replacement was Father Jean Loi Nguyen. Father Jean Loi had been forced to flee his home land of Vietnam many years earlier. To say that Father was a computer enthusiast would be an understatement! He shared his love of computers with the younger members of the Parish. He also organized dinners and “fun” evenings in the parish hall for the children.

Many parishioners will remember Joseph and Myriam, Father's Vietnamese friends, who were often seen around the church helping out with Father's many projects.

Father had never driven a car before. A few parishioners could probably give some interesting accounts of their experiences during the driving lessons!

Shut-Ins: Parishioners are reminded that Father Albanus is available and more than willing to meet with those individuals who are shut-in for a variety of reasons. In addition to Eucharist, Father is prepared to simply visit, as well as bring a spiritual message to those who are unable to leave their place of residence. To book a time with Father, please contact the Parish Office at 819-986-3763.
